

JONES BROS TRAINING CENTRE

Jones Bros (Ruthin) Co Ltd has recently redeveloped its training capability in line with the revised CPCS training requirements. The company has established two new sites to facilitate the provision of practical training and testing of skills in a wide variety of plant and machinery. One of these sites is a disused quarry (Moel Y Faen) which provides a 100 acre area to support practical training in the safe operation of large excavating and earth moving machinery.

The new Training Centre is staffed with three fully accredited Plant instructors and assessors (CITB, CSCS and City & Guilds) who carry out CITB Plant operator training courses for both potential and experienced operators. The instructors and testers have many years of practical experience in the management and operation of construction sites.

The Training Centre also offers tailor-made plant training courses to meet specific requirements. These include:

- Abrasive Wheels
